BEGINNER PRODUCT · DEAD SEA MINERALS

Dead Sea Scrub & Body Butter

Feel the Difference

The friendliest demo in the shop, and the one you learn on. Know where it sits before you fall in love with it: the scrub, the body butter and the nail kit are completely beginner products. They are for people who are learning how to sell, or who just want to put some nice energy on the floor. The syringe is the star product — that is what we focus on, and selling one is what a shift is measured on. So a sheet that treated a scrub sale as the goal would be teaching you to stay a beginner. Use this for exactly what it is: hands, water, a jar that does not spill and a face that smiles. Nobody says no to feeling nice. Get your mouth working and your confidence up here, then take both to the syringe.

The Hook — Stop Scripts

PICK ONE AND WALK HER IN

I'm pretty sure you've tried scrubs before, right? This one is a bit different. You'll love this. It's one of those products that makes everyone smile.

Do you ever get dry skin? Ugh, I know — it's the worst. You know what? Let me give you something amazing. Come!

The Sensory Demo

1. Place the Salts
   Place the Dead Sea salts on the back of their hand. "Start rubbing gently." Let them feel the crystals.

2. The Dead Sea Story
   "Have you heard of the Dead Sea? Lowest place on Earth, highest natural mineral concentration — magnesium, calcium, potassium. These minerals detox, rejuvenate, and calm the skin. From the Dead Sea, the lowest point on Earth."

3. Add Water
   Add water slowly while they rub. "This is my personal favorite — I use it myself. People with the most difficult skin in the world use this — the driest, the most sensitive, the ones who cannot put anything on themselves. It basically separates the dry, dead layers from the living ones so your skin can breathe."

4. Let Them Feel the Difference
   Rinse and dry. Wait two beats. "Be honest — when was the last time your hands felt like this? And the best part? The sensation stays — even if you wash your hands a lot or use sanitizer. Since Covid, this became our #1 seller. People were like, 'Finally something that actually helps!'"

5 Usage Instructions

"Use it once a week. One teaspoon is enough for the whole body. A jar lasts 8–12 months."

THE DEMO, OUT LOUD

Start rubbing gently.

The Butter Flip Test

IMPOSSIBLE TO FAKE

This is the moment that sells the butter. It's visual, surprising, and impossible to fake.

1 The Demonstration

Open the butter, flip it upside down — no spill. Point to the fact that nothing falls out. "To complete the treatment — the Body Butter. Same minerals, ultra-rich. You see how it doesn't spill? Even if I flip it over, it doesn't fall. You only need a tiny bit — not because I'm cheap 😄 — because it's really that concentrated."

2 The Closing Line

Let them massage it in. Then: "Imagine this feeling all over the body… and the feet? OMG — the best feeling ever!"

Price Presentation

ANCHOR, THEN LOCAL, THEN THE OFFER

I won't lie — it's not cheap. Around Europe these go for €80 each.

But here in Andorra, each one is €60.

And the best part — our offer is Buy 2, Get 1 Free. So you pay €120 and you leave with three products.

Combo Offers

Final push — the graceful exit

THE RULE — SHE DOES NOT LEAVE THE SHOP

If she walks out she is never coming back, so treat every exit as a lost sale. Read the ladder as bundles, not a slide: €120 buys three and the same €120 buys four, so the money only really moves at €60 and then at €30. The single at €30 is the bottom rung, not a goodbye — it puts the product in her hands today and makes her a customer. Work all of it before anything ends. Never hand her a card, never write the price down, never send her off to have a think with somebody who is not standing here.

Pro Tips

Make it sensory — let the hands sell it
The feeling is everything. Let them rub, rinse, and feel. Once they feel the softness, the sale is halfway done.

The flip test is your secret weapon
Flipping the butter jar and showing nothing falls out is a visual proof they can’t argue with. Do it every time.

Use Christmas urgency naturally
“Stock runs faster closer to the holidays, and I’d hate you to miss colors/scents you like.” Timing closes gifts.

Keep the math clean
€60 each. €120 for three (Buy 2, Get 1). Simple, round numbers are easier to say yes to.

Buy 2, Get 2 for premium buyers
When the energy is great and they have a Christmas list — this is your volume play. Same €120, extra product.

Buy 1, Get 1 for fast closes
For hesitant buyers who still felt the demo — this turns 'maybe' into 'yes' instantly. €60 feels like nothing after €120.

€30 Scrub is your final push
When nothing else works, the single Scrub at €30 creates a customer today and a bigger sale tomorrow. No gifts, no extras — just the hero product in their hands.

Keep it fun — jokes, smiles, easy energy
This demo should feel like a spa moment, not a sales pitch. If they smile, they buy.

Lines We Do Not Cross

- Nobody leaves to think about it. The single at €30 is the last rung and it happens here, today — no card, no price written down, no voucher to take away.
- A scrub is never what follows a syringe. Sell a syringe and your job is the handover: the upseller is a specialist who is only here for a short time. You do not pitch a second product on top of it.
- Nothing the shop has to honour afterwards. No refunds, no returns, no money back, no promise of future service — the buffer swap is the nail kit’s, and it is the only one.
- Talk the skin up as much as you like — the driest, the most sensitive, the ones who cannot put anything on themselves. Never reach for a disease to sell a cream.
- Never explain why it is cheaper here. The Europe price beside the Andorra price does the whole job on its own — the shop’s standing in Andorra is not a selling point we voice, in any wording.
- Every number on this sheet is generated from the app. If a rung moves, reprint the sheet; never invent a rung of your own.
