HOW TO COME DOWN

The Peeling

The middle of the ladder

ANCHOR	ANDORRA PRICE	MINIMUM
€200	€150	€50

€200 Europe Price Anchor ANCHOR

"In Europe this treatment costs €200."

€150 Andorra Price NORMAL

"Here in Andorra it is only €150."

€100 Offer 1 — 50% Off + Free Gift OFFER

Offer 1 of 2. Same as the syringe: the two options go out together, every time.

"This is not an anti-ageing cream — it lifts the dead skin off the living skin. Today it is half the Europe price, €100, and the Dead Sea Body Scrub comes free with it."

€150 Option B — Day & Night Cream Free OPTION B — BESIDE, NOT BELOW

Option B, beside Offer 1 — never below it. €150 is MORE than €100, and you push it when she has read well through the demo. Gifts on top are fine from up here.

"Or you take the whole routine: the full €150, and the Day Cream and the Night Cream come free with the peeling. That is everything your skin needs, morning and night. Which one?"

€70 Adaptive — Scrub as Credit OFFER

"If you do not need the scrub I will take it back as credit — the scrub is €30, so that leaves the peeling at €70."

€50 Voucher Close MINIMUM

"With today's voucher a single peeling is €50 — no gifts at that price, and that is as low as it goes."

PROOF MOVE — THE HAND TEST

“Watch my hand — sixty seconds, and you will see five years of dullness come off.”

- Here the voucher lands straight on the €50 minimum and the ladder ends. No manager, no theatre — the maths is simply like that.
- Option B sits beside Offer 1, not below it.
- The peeling is the middle of the ladder, not the top of it. If she reads well, bridge her up to the eyes.
